Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am pleased to present you with the Cold Spring Police Department's 2010 Annual Report. The annual report is provided for information and review of the department's activities and accomplishments for 2010. Also the department statistics are listed in the report. These are some of the things used to compare and measure a department's progress from year to year.

The department continues the Neighborhood Focus Program this year. Officers are assigned specific geographic locations to be the liaison with the community for quality of life issues. We hope that this will improve the relationships between the department and the residents. Please take time to visit the website to become acquainted with your neighborhood officer.

The department made subtle changes in the cruiser design this year. First was the inclusion of the motto "Cooperation is the Key" at the rear of the cars. The other change is the positioning of "Cold Spring" and "Police" and the relative size of the lettering. The two were inversed on the sides of the cruisers.

We continue to update the information on the police website to provide information and make communication with the public easier. Also the department implemented the Nixle notification program to inform citizens in the event of issues that may arise in the city. The program sends messages via texting to cell phones and more detailed information to email addresses.

I hope you enjoy reading this annual report and welcome your feedback. If there are any questions concerning any of the data, or requests for additional information on any item(s) in the report, please contact me at your convenience.

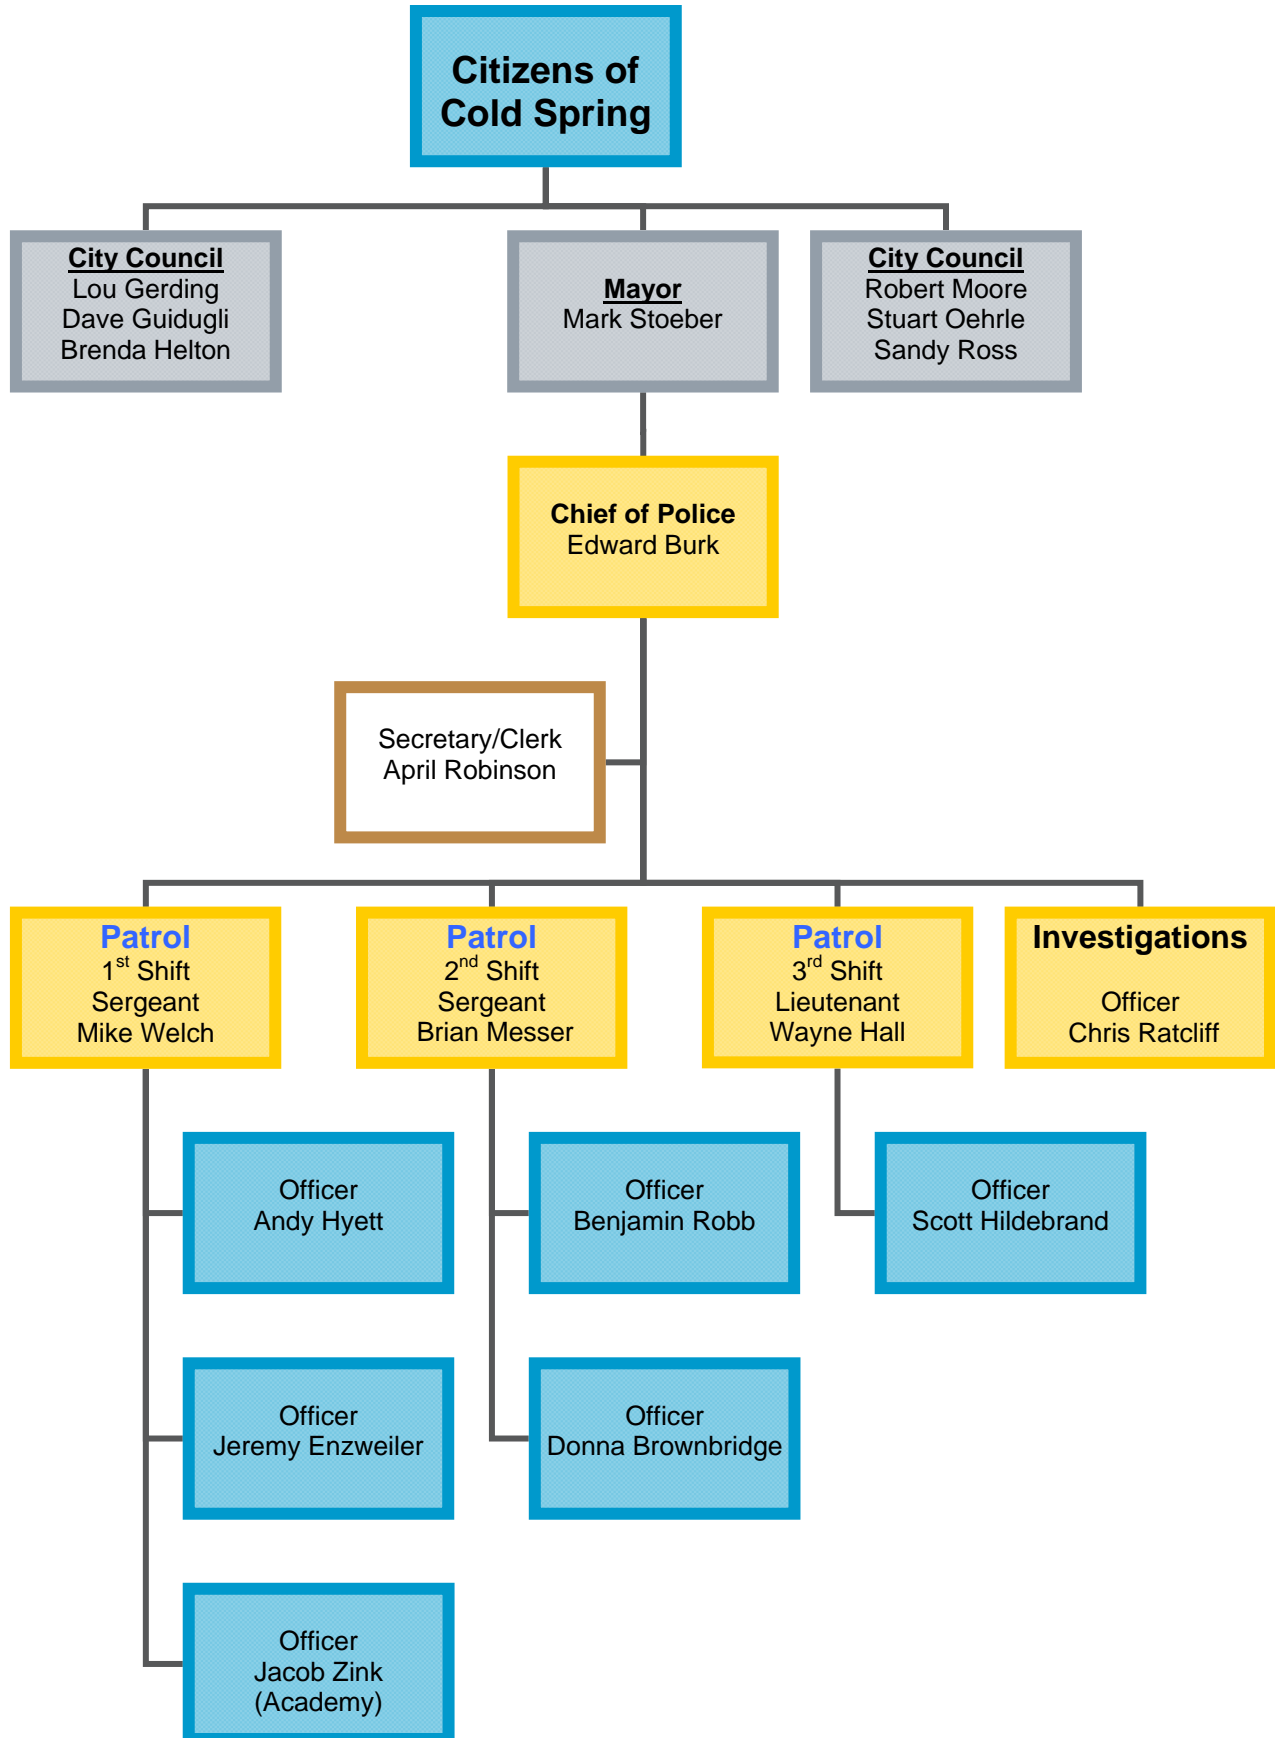

Sincerely,

Commendations for the Year 2010

1. The Department received notice in January of its 3rd Five Year Accreditation Certificate from the Kentucky Association of Chief's of Police (KACP). The Kentucky Association of Chief's of Police Accreditation Program is intended to provide law enforcement agencies in the Commonwealth with an avenue for demonstrating that they meet commonly accepted professional standards for efficient and effective operations. Under this program accredited agencies have examined all aspects of their operations. Accreditation reflects that the agency was carefully measured against an established set of standards and has met or exceeded professionally accepted practices in law enforcement.

Sgt. Brian Messer was the Accreditation Manager for the agency. He prepared all the documentation to meet the 160 standards established by the KACP. The 2 (four inch) binders of information and documentation were presented for review to a member of the Professional Standards Committee prior to the on-site assessment by the KACP in December of 2009. The on site assessment was coordinated by Sgt. Messer to included questioning of employees knowledge of policies, cruiser and equipment inspection and inspection of the Police Department facilities to include records, evidence and security of the building. The department successfully passed all aspects of the reviews.

officer with the most Driving Under the Influence (DUI) arrests for the federal fiscal year (October 1 to September 30). The department had 50 arrests for the time period. 22. A special note of Commendation for the achievement of the officers that obtained their Kentucky Law Enforcement Council (KLEC) Career Development Certificates during the year. Kentucky's comprehensive, statewide Career Development program for law enforcement is one of eight in the nation. These certificates are earned by completion of certain required levels of training, education and experience. After completing the minimum years of experience, education levels, and required levels of training, an officer must submit paperwork for approval to the KLEC requesting the certificates. The KLEC then determines if the requirements have been met through verification of information submitted. The certificates are issued when ALL the standards for a certificate are met. The training used to obtain one certificate cannot be used to obtain another, thus the need for constant improvement and continued training for the officers. Obtaining these professional certificates will establish higher standards for the agency and policing in general. The certifications received this year were as follows:

Officer Donna Brownbridge

Intermediate Law Enforcement Officer
Advanced Law Enforcement Officer
Law Enforcement Officer Investigator

Law Enforcement Activity Highlights for 2010

1. In January the Campbell County Dispatch Center broadcast an attempt to locate an inmate that left a work detail at the Regional Fire Training Center. Officer Robb located a person that matched the description of the suspect in the area of the County Square Shopping Center. He was positively identified and then transported to the Detention Center.
2. In January Officer Benjamin Robb and Sgt. Brian Messer responded to an accident on US 27 (Alexandria Pike) and Crossroads Blvd. The person that caused the accident was cut from the vehicle by the Campbell County Fire Department. He was charged with Driving Under the influence of Alcohol and 2nd Degree Assault. That person was eventually convicted of both charges in July of this year.

3. In April a complainant from the Sturbridge area stated that someone removed a leaf blower from the garage while they were working in the back yard. Detective Ratcliff discovered that the item was pawned that day. He began looking for the suspect in the theft. Some time later he found the suspect and during the interview closed the case along with several other similar thefts in Alexandria.
4. Sometime during the month of May the Cincinnati Bell Building on Alexandria Pike was vandalized. Someone had used spray paint to graffiti on the side of the building. Evidence from the scene was collected to include the empty spray paint cans, rubber gloves and a receipt for the paint from Wal-Mart. Detective Ratcliff contacted the store and obtained video of the person making the purchase. He obtained information as to the identity of the suspect and confronted him with the evidence. He confessed to doing the vandalism and to doing the same at a building across the street.
5. Late in June officers went to Crossroads Elementary for a burglary to an exterior shed. Taken was a riding lawnmower valued at $9,000 along with some other items. Information from the security cameras at the school was shared by Detective Ratcliff

Detective Ratcliff went back to the Detention Center and re-interviewed the suspect. As a result of that interview and corroborating other information, Detective Ratcliff was able to get search warrants for additional locations in the county which lead to the recovery of more property and more arrests. The search warrant produced additional charges of cultivating marijuana at one location and drug paraphernalia at another.

As a result of his diligence and communication skills Detective Ratcliff was able to close 10 cases of theft in our city, 11 from the city of Wilder, 2 from Alexandria, 1 from unincorporated Campbell County. Through continued efforts to find owners of the property and the articles in the papers Cold Spring had an additional 5 cases that were opened and closed, since the victims did not report the crimes when they initially occurred. Detective Ratcliff was able to retrieve in excess of $10,000 of stolen property. As a result he was able to charge 3 adults and 2 juveniles for the crimes. His efforts were above and beyond the normal follow-up and investigation.

7. In early July Officer Hyett went to a call of a two juveniles that were being robbed and threatened. As Officer Hyett pulled into the area of the robbery the suspect abandoned his vehicle took off through the woods on foot. Within minutes the suspect was located and arrested for Robbery 2nd degree.
8. In the middle of August the first of two related strong arm robberies occurred in the city. The first was at the Meijer store. The suspects specifically targeted elderly women. In this case the suspects followed the victim around the store before accosting her in the parking lot. At that point the suspect pushed her into her vehicle and stole her purse. The victim made a commotion and resisted. The suspect then ran to a dark colored vehicle that was waiting for him and left. Fortunately there was a Good Samaritan that heard the commotion and witnessed the assault and robbery. He was able to give a good description of the suspects and the car used in the robbery. An attempt to locate was placed out on the vehicle and occupants. The vehicle was not located that evening. Detective Ratcliff and Covington Police followed up and staked out the house where the vehicle was registered. The vehicle was spotted at the residence and Detective Ratcliff spoke to the owner who stated that she loaned the vehicle to her boyfriend the past 2 weeks and she took the car back after she was assaulted by him. Detective Ratcliff had the identity of one suspect and a street name on the other (the one in the photo below).

A week later another robbery occurred at the Kroger's on Crossroad Blvd. The method of operation was similar to the earlier robbery as was the description of the suspects however the vehicle description was different. Detective Ratcliff and Covington Police again responded to the last known address of the first suspect. Information gained from conversation with relatives of the suspect lead Detectives from Covington and Cold Spring to stake out an area to observe for the vehicle. Within 3 hours of the stake out, the suspect vehicle in the Kroger robbery and the 3 suspects involved entered the area and were stopped. Additional evidence from a burglary that occurred in Campbell County that morning was in the car when it was stopped. The suspects were charged in the robberies in Cold Spring and they were linked to similar events in Newport and at Rookwood Commons in Cincinnati.

9. In September Officer Enzweiler responded to the report of an active burglary at the end of Darlas to assist Campbell County Police. The home owner stayed on the phone until the officers arrived. The person stated that someone came to the door with a clipboard and tried the door. The person left in a red truck with an orange bucket. The officers that responded to the house did not pass any vehicles that matched that description. Moments later another officer observed a vehicle matching that description and stopped the vehicle on Darlas. Moments after the stop, another resident on Darlas passed the stopped vehicle and police to go home. When she arrived home she discovered that her house had been burglarized.

Law Enforcement Activity Highlights for 2010

She reported that a television was taken along with some tools. The truck that was stopped on Darlas had the items in the vehicle. The suspect was charged with Burglary. The suspect's method of operation was to take a clipboard up to the front door and knock. If someone answered he would say that he was at the wrong address to make an estimate on some remodeling work. If no one answered he would break into the house. The suspect was charged with a number of other burglaries in Kenton County, Boone County and Independence.

10. In late September Officer Robb responded to Industrial Road for a head on collision. The driver of one vehicle lost control and crossed the centerline striking another vehicle. The vehicle also caught fire. An unknown person pulled the occupant from the burning truck. The seriousness of the accident resulted in the Accident Reconstruction team being called to the scene.

Law Enforcement Activity Highlights for 2010

11. In early October the Barleycorn's Restaurant was burglarized. Taken in the burglary was a coin changing machine along with its contents and other items to include a Pete Rose picture. The Harrison County Sheriff's Department notified this agency that they found some change machines in their jurisdiction and identified two people that had went to the local Food Lion and cashed in $1,000 worth of coins. When the Harrison County Deputies stopped the vehicle they did notice a Pete Rose picture on the back seat and a computer hard drive. They did not have anything to link them to a crime and let them go. At that time Detective Ratcliff followed up on the information and put out an attempt to locate on the vehicle and suspects. Boone County Sheriffs Deputy found and stopped the vehicle but it had only one occupant and nothing else. Detective Ratcliff had the suspect delivered to our office and he was questioned. Detective Ratcliff gained a confession and information on the accomplice. The accomplice was apprehended by Detective Ratcliff and Sgt. Welch when he went to court on other charges.
12. Officer Brownbridge and Officer Hildebrand went to Meijer for a misdemeanor shoplifting complaint in early October. When the officers began to investigate the quantity of merchandise, gift cards and check books (with other's names) in the suspect's purses and vehicle, their suspicions were aroused. The stories from the two suspects did not make sense to Officer Brownbridge and Officer Hildebrand. Detective Ratcliff was called out to interrogate the two. After the two suspects were lodged in jail for the outstanding warrants and theft, the investigation continued. All the property was turned over to the US Secret Service (USSS) in December. The USSS has picked up the case and the two are being charged federally for thefts in excess of $150,000 in at least 5 states. Officer Brownbridge and Hildebrand's suspicions were well founded. It began with a $19.49 shoplifting charge.
13. In October Sgt. Messer received a call from a Louisville resident who indicated that some items were taken from his fiancée's vehicle in Louisville and found the items on Craigslist. The victim made arrangements to buy the stolen items back and was supposed to meet the suspect on the Martha Layne Collins Blvd. in Kroger's parking lot. Sgt. Messer stopped the suspect who was a Northern Kentucky University student living in the dorm. Sgt. Messer searched the suspect and found a stolen iPod that the victim identified. The suspect's dorm room was searched and more stolen items were discovered. The suspect was arrested for receiving stolen property and a warrant out of Jefferson County for traffic charges.
14. Officer Robb took a theft by deception report from the Sherwin Williams store. The suspect came into the store and bought a paint sprayer. The suspect presented a purchase order from a company that did business with the store and left with the item. It was discovered that the company did not authorized the purchase nor did it have an employee by the name used for the purchase. Detective Ratcliff began the investigation and discovered that another paint sprayer was obtained the same way from a store in Southgate that was not reported. Detective Ratcliff located the stolen item on a pawn shop list. He obtained the information on the person that pawned the item and obtained a warrant for the person.

15. Late November Officer Robb took a Burglary report at a residence on Dry Creek Road. Sometime over the period of a week prior suspects took a trailer, a desk, a post hole digger and some metal shelving from an exterior barn. The owner had prior contact with the suspects and found them on the property removing property and ordered to return the property and leave about a week before the theft. She also obtained a partial license plate of the suspect vehicle. Campbell County Police received a call of 2 males stealing items behind a barn in the county in a truck with plates that matched the partial plates. Detective Ratcliff contacted dispatch and notified them that the vehicle may have been involved in a burglary in the city. The vehicle was located and the suspects interviewed. The suspects implicated one another in the thefts. The trailer was located and returned to the owner.
16. Officer Enzweiler took a theft report from Ivy Ridge for an air conditioning unit that was removed from the building. Officer Enzweiler interviewed neighbors to determine if they may have seen or heard anything suspicious. One neighbor related that he heard some noise outside the window in the early morning hours. When the neighbor looked out the window he noticed a male outside and asked what he was doing and the suspect left. Office Enzweiler took another theft report from a residence in Ivy Ridge. The suspect was living with the victim of the 2nd theft. The suspect in that theft matched the description of the person seen outside the complex in the first theft. It was discovered that the suspect was known to steal and scrap air conditioners. Detective Ratcliff and Officer Enzweiler located the suspect and interviewed him. The suspect confessed to both crimes.
17. Officer Andy Hyett, our Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) instructor continues his relationship with the schools in the city. He teaches the DARE curriculum at Crossroads Elementary, Cline Elementary and St. Joseph's School. DARE takes an approach designed to present children with informed decision-making opportunities. DARE strategy is one of prevention, teaching social skills, such as how to resist pressure from others. DARE teaches decision making skills, which presents options and their consequences if followed. Below is Officer Hyett while at St. Joseph's.

18. In December officers from the Cold Spring Police Department took part in the annual Cops and Kids Program. Officers Hildebrand, Hyett, Robb, and Sergeant Messer all took selected children shopping for Christmas presents. Children are selected for this program through applications submitted through the schools. Breakfast was provided at the Alexandria Police Department. From there the children were taken to the Meijer Store by officers in their police vehicles. After shopping the children were treated to lunch while their presents were wrapped by volunteers.

19. This year our department moved toward a program called Neighborhood Focus. Each officer is assigned a geographic area of the city. Officers are responsible for the concerns of the people living in that area and their quality of life issues. This allows the community to get to know the officers and vice versa. This program is designed for officers to interact with the community in their designed sectors. With a combined effort from the citizens and the police department working together, we will make the City of Cold Spring a much better place to live. Below is a map of the city with the areas identified and the corresponding responsible officer.

Vehicle Collisions in the City for 2010

A brief explanation for the preceding "Calls for Service" comparison pages and the number of accident reports that are reported below is needed. You will note there were 411 dispatches for accidents in the year 2010, yet there were 297 actual accidents reports that the department prepared and submitted to the state. The difference in the numbers is due to what may be recorded by the Dispatch Center as a traffic accident. The dispatcher will enter what is told to them and send the appropriate agency to the request for service.

The proliferation of cell phones and their use has had an impact on the number of calls and what is reported to the dispatch center. Someone will see two vehicles on the side of the roadway as they drive by and they may assume that there is an accident. They will report an accident to the dispatch center. An officer will respond to the scene and it may simply be a vehicle that broke down and another vehicle stopped to help. The result is no report is needed.

Another reason for the discrepancy may be due to the minor nature of an accident and the desire not to have a report made. An example would be someone runs into the rear of a car at a stop light. The involved parties get out and inspect the cars. A passerby will see the incident and will call. The two vehicle owners decide that there is no damage and leave prior to the officer's arrival or tell the officer that they do not want a report.

The most important fact to remember is that if an officer is dispatched to a call, the officer will go to the location of the call and take the appropriate action as is dictated by the actual events.

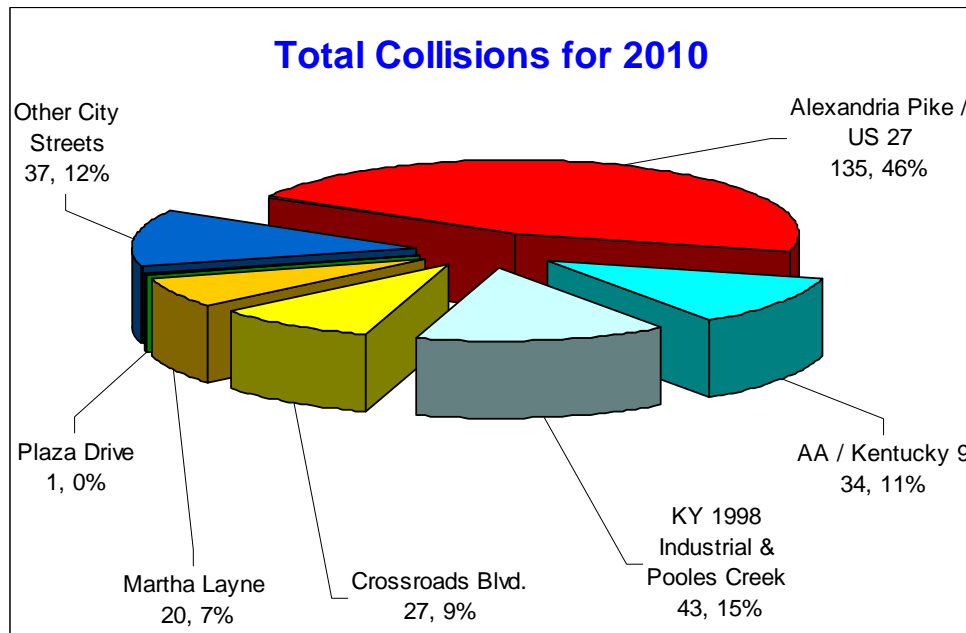

Officers on the agency spend a great deal of time and effort in the preparation of collision reports. The reports generate a great deal of information that the state and this agency utilizes. The information from the reports helps indicate where problems exist. Solutions to the problem include public education, traffic flow, engineering (road design, signals, signage etc.) and enforcement to reduce the accidents. The number of accidents is down about 3.57% from the previous year. This is the second year in a row with a reduction of traffic accidents. Of the 297 accidents, 23 were hit and run. Below are the Accident Statistics for 2010.

Vehicle Collisions in the City for 2010

In the graph below you will see the locations of collisions in the city. The location of collisions in the city show the majority (72%) occur on the major thoroughfares being US 27 (Alexandria Pike), KY 9 (AA Highway), and KY 1998, both ends of (Industrial Road and Pooles Creek Road #1). It is for this reason the Cold Spring Police Department continues to show extra police presence and enforcement in these locations.

The next areas of high incidence of collisions are in the two major shopping centers parking lots and the roads that feed into the shopping areas of the city. (Note that 16% of collisions are at Crossroads Boulevard and County Square). All the other streets in the city only account for 12% of collisions in Cold Spring. This is double the percentage of last year's collisions.

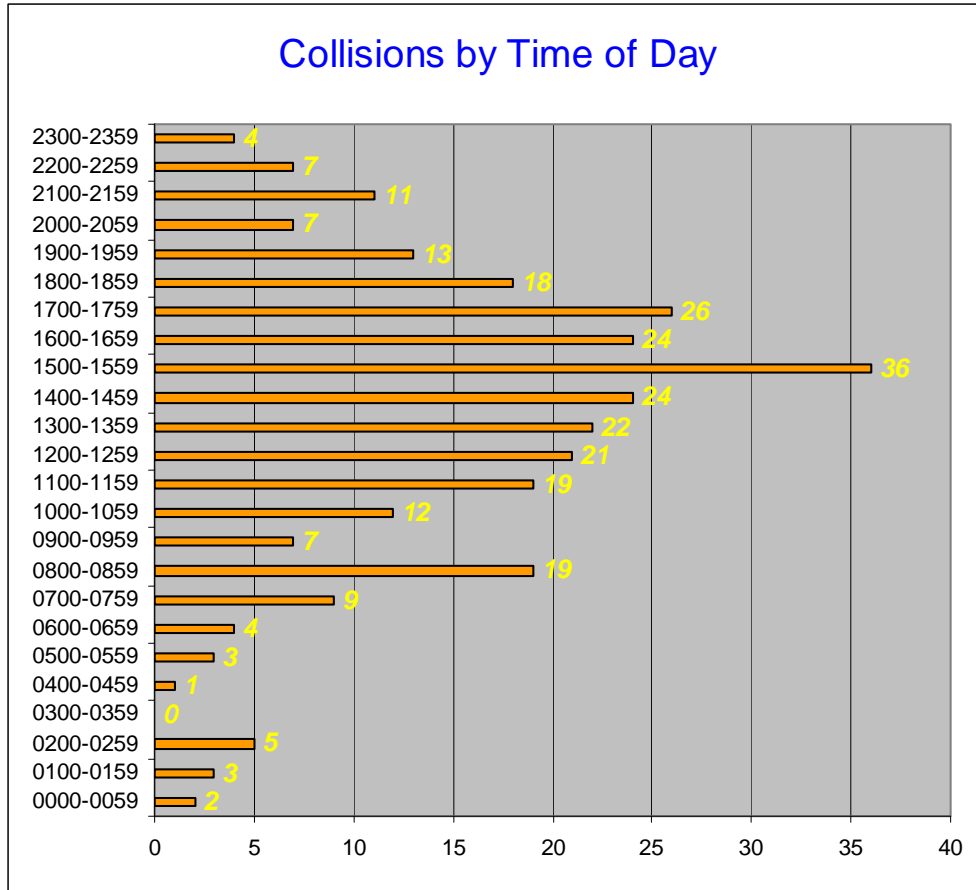

The chart below shows collision occurrences by day of the week.

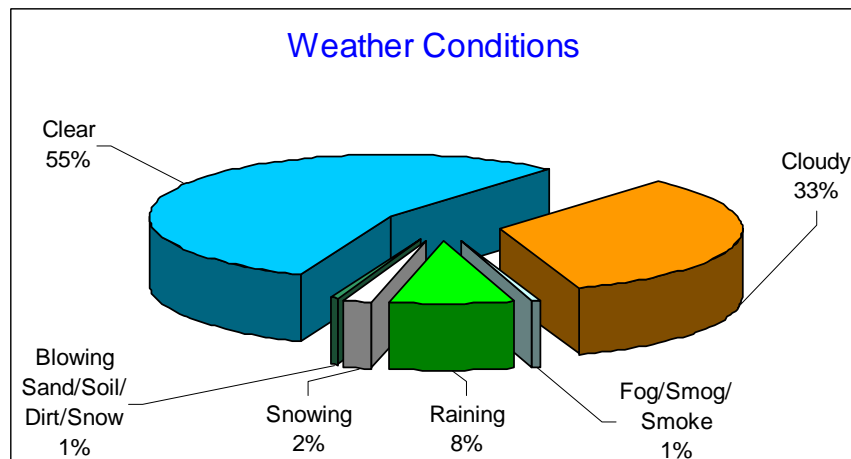

Vehicle Collisions in the City for 2010

The chart below shows frequency by hour in the day. The conclusion to be drawn from both of the charts are that most collisions occur during the work week and that the commute home is the most dangerous time of day.

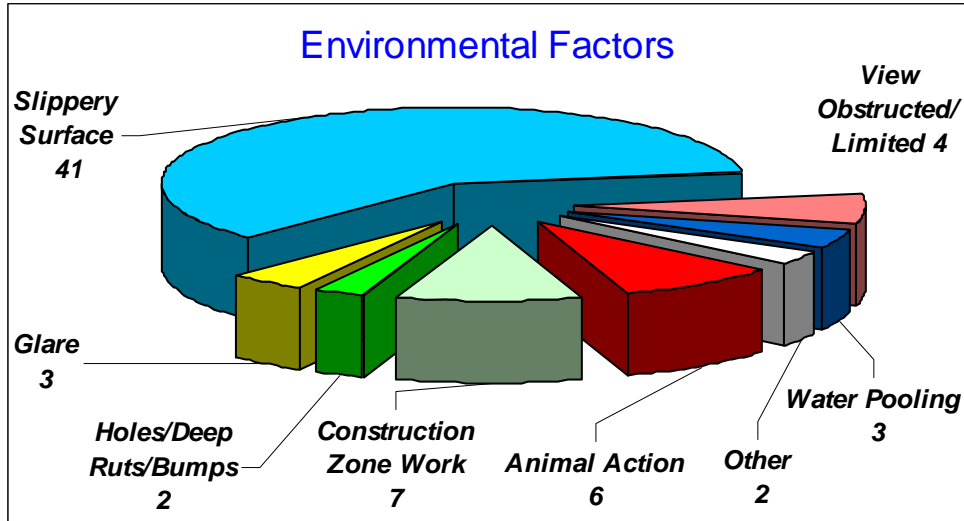

Another interesting fact is that most of the accidents take place on clear days or when it is overcast. Only about 10% occur in bad weather when more would be expected.

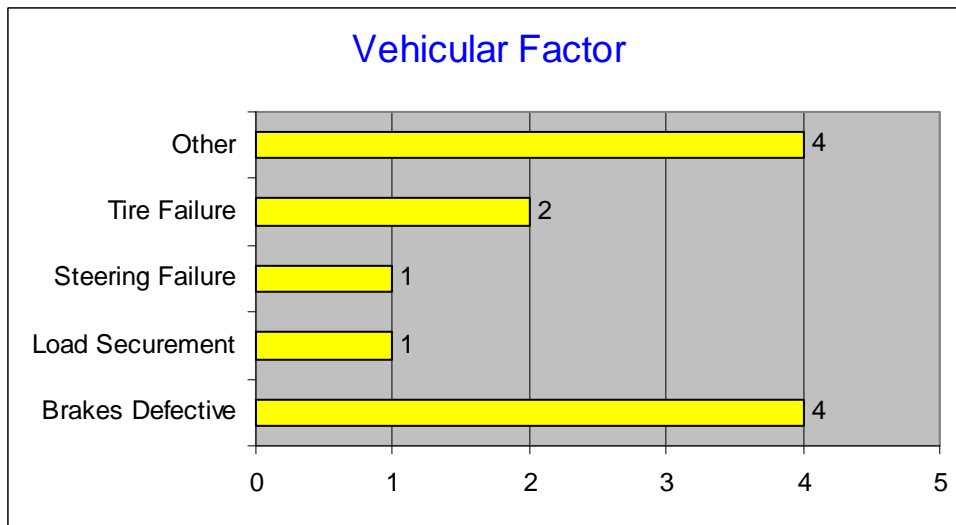

Vehicle Collisions in the City for 2010

Officers that take collision reports try to determine the cause of the collision and what contributing factors may have played into the cause of the collision. In every collision there may be one or more contributing factor. The factors that the officers review are environmental factors, vehicular factors and human factors. The graph below shows the environmental factors which were indicated in the collision reports in the city.

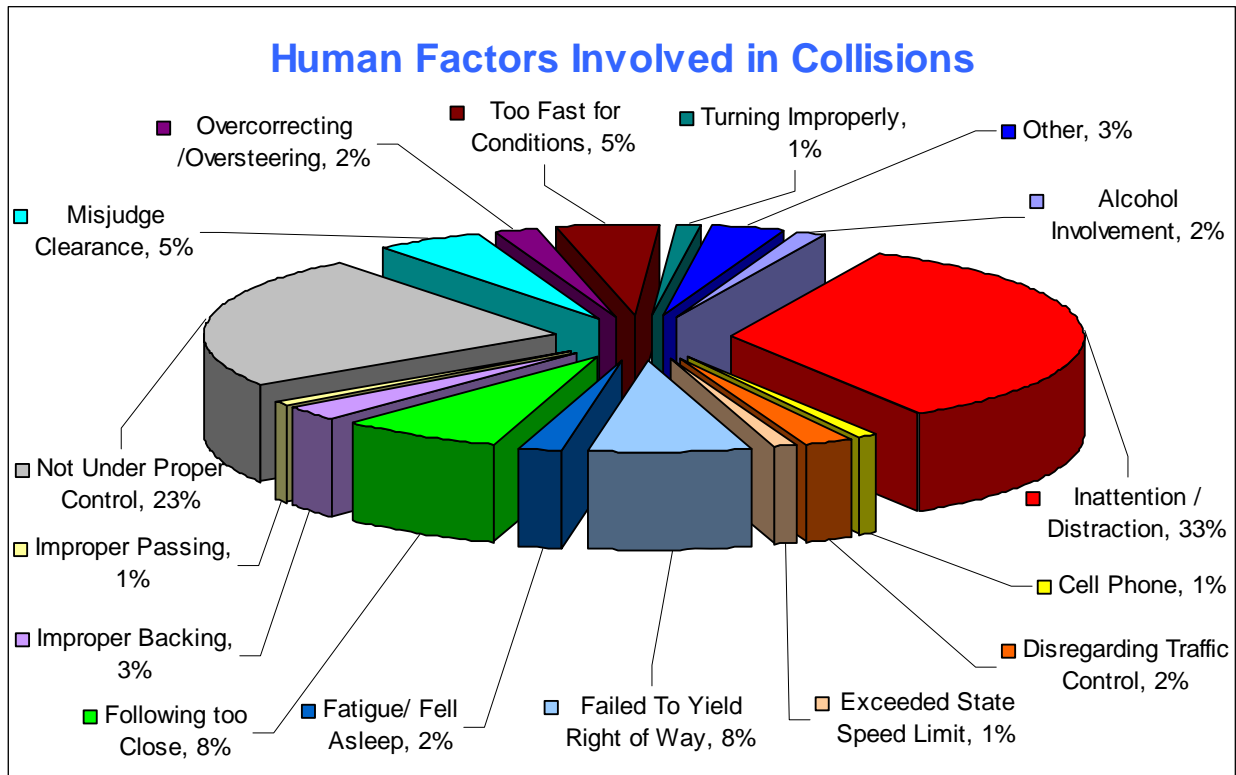

In the vehicular factors contributing to accidents, there were only 10 indicated in the 297 accidents.

The next chart shows the human factors that were indicated in the collision reports in the city. In the majority of accidents the most important contributing factor is the human that is behind the wheel and the actions that they take or fail to take. (Readers should be aware that the Human Contributing Factors are listed as percentages since more than one can be listed in the accident reports.) Please note that 33% of all collisions were due to driver inattention. It is imperative that operators of a motor vehicle stay alert while operating their vehicle.

Case Assignment and Closure Rates 2010

Officers on the department respond to numerous calls for service in the city. On some calls the officer's presence or discussion with the individuals involved will resolve the issue. Other calls will compel officers to take a report from citizens that will require follow up on the crime or incident to solve and close the case. Any officer that opens a misdemeanor case is responsible for the follow-up on that case. Felony cases are given to the Detective for follow-up unless the officer taking the initial report can close the case in a short period of time.

The national average closure rate for 2009 violent crimes was 47.1% and 18.6% for property crime. This agency's closure rate on violent crimes was 87.5% and 53.3% for property crime for the year is considerably better than the national averages.

The Cold Spring Police Department opened 85 felony cases for the year and closed 49 cases. Two of the closed cases were opened the previous year. There were two unfounded cases added to the closed totals. Unfounded means the case was opened/reported and determined/investigated not to have occurred or not to be supported by evidence. Below are listed the case load of each officer and their respective closure rates.

The following are closure rates on misdemeanor cases throughout 2010. There was 1 unfounded cases added to the closed totals. For the year, the Cold Spring Police Department's total closure rate for misdemeanors is 59.5%. An officer that answers a call is responsible for the follow-up investigation on all misdemeanor crimes.

Officers make a number of traffic stops during the year as indicated in the earlier report and not every stop results in a citation. Officers have a deal of discretion in the decision on whether or not to issue a citation. Officers will take a number of factors into consideration before issuing a state citation such as weather conditions, prior accidents in the area, prior driving record of the person stopped and if there have been prior warning citations for similar offenses, etc. for an offense such a speeding. Less than 45% of the traffic stops resulted in state citations.

Officers issued a number of written warning citations. The number of written warnings was up this year. The officers on this agency issued 391 written warnings this year compared to 260 written warnings in 2009.

Customer Services for 2010

The department provides a number of services to the residents and businesses in the city to make the living working and visiting the city more convenient. One is the extra attention to resident's houses while they are out of town on vacation or business. A homeowner can request that their house be checked while they are gone. This service provides a greater sense of security and provides a little more interaction between the agency and the citizens. The number of both requests and vacation checks has doubled since 2007.

Resident Requests	71	80	129	154
Vacation Checks	2794	3801	4913	6411

Another service that officers perform is to open vehicles for owners that occasionally lock their keys inside their car. The service is provided at no cost and it saves the owner paying a locksmith or wrecker service to open the vehicle or breaking a window in the worst case scenario.

The department has supplied lockout equipment for each cruiser. The city purchased some of the tools and the officers donated the prize money from a softball competition that they won, for the rest. Once again the number of lockouts has risen steadily over the past few years. This number has tripled since 2007.

Departmental Training for the Year 2010

The Legislature in Kentucky placed into law, a requirement that officers receive a minimum amount of training to become and remain a Certified Police Officer in the Commonwealth. The Kentucky Department of Criminal Justice Training (DOCJT) is the agency that is responsible for much of that training. Currently a recruit must attend the Academy that is 18 weeks in length and exceed the minimum requirements to graduate. After graduation a minimum of 40 hours of training (approved by the Kentucky Law Enforcement Council, KLEC) is required by each officer to maintain certification. Additionally, skills and certifications that the officers have acquired during their tenure must be maintained. Recently federal programs require further training in Incident Command to maintain eligibility for future grants. Also the agency seeks outside sources to help facilitate the training requirements of the personnel. All of these play a critical part in the determination of the training schedule for the department.

Job enrichment, personal achievement and satisfaction of personnel are important to fulfilling the mission of the agency and service to the citizens of Cold Spring. The department prides itself on the continuing education and training provided by the city within the Police Department budget. We encourage our officers to be engaged and current. The officers on the department are given the opportunity to select some of the training which they have an interest or need to develop skills to better serve the public. The selection of training also creates career paths for the officers and facilitates the opportunity to obtain KLEC Career Development Certificates.

The personnel on the department completed 1362 hours of total training for the year. Listed below are the personnel, tenure on the department, the individual educational achievements, professionally recognized certifications, department responsibilities and the training for the year. It is important to point out some of the individual training achievements of officers on the department and the impact that training will have on the future of the agency.

Sgt. Mike Welch, Officer Donna Brownbridge, Officer Jeremy Enzweiler, and Officer Scott Hildebrand all attended Police Training Officer Program. This is the program that is designed for training new officers and incorporates contemporary adult educational methods and a version of problem-based learning (PBL) adapted for police. The model is based on community policing and collaborative problem-solving principles. It addresses the traditional duties of policing, but in the context of specific neighborhood problems. This new model challenges recruits to think creatively and to use community resources to respond to crime and disorder. All new officers coming into the department will be trained using this program. It is replacing the Field Training Officer (FTO) Program.

Officer Donna Brownbridge, Officer Andy Hyett, Officer Scott Hildebrand and April Robinson attended Rape Aggression Defense Training. The Rape Aggression Defense (RAD) System is a program of realistic self-defense tactics and techniques for women. The RAD System is a comprehensive, women-only course that begins with awareness, prevention, risk reduction and risk avoidance, while progressing on to the basics of hands - on defense training. The "Women Only" classes take 12 hours to complete and are broken down into four, three hour sessions. The classes are team taught culminating in the students getting the opportunity to practice the techniques on an officer dressed in protective gear. The Department is looking forward to hosting these classes for the residents and business employees of the city.

In addition to state mandated training, some departmental training is completed to enhance an officer's knowledge and abilities. The training may cover driving, firearms, Taser and other less than lethal weapons, departmental policies and procedures, use of departmental computer systems and software, etc.

Significant legal liabilities surround the use of force in self protection and the protection of others within the law enforcement officer's actions. Officers are required to qualify with all their weapons multiple times during the year. In addition to the actual firing of the weapons the officers are also given written tests over the state use of force statutes and the departmental policies on the use of force. The repetition of the knowledge and skills reduces the officers' likelihood of being injured and increases their survivability in the event of a deadly encounter.
